

Among the many other products that use foam manufactured by the Thai Foam Group are parts for electronic machinery, such as refrigerators and air-conditioning units. The group also manufactures safety helmets for use by motorcyclists. These products can be treated so that they are waterproof and heat resistant, or even painted with various colours, in line with customers' needs.